Assistant Professor Education Program

Stephens College invites applications for a full-time (nine-month), tenure-track faculty position to teach early childhood and elementary courses in the EDU Program. The successful candidate will also supervise student teachers and field experiences, lead program development and assessment, advise students, engage in scholarly research, and participate in College committee service. We are seeking a colleague who can demonstrate a successful track record of working collaboratively with EDU colleagues, other departments across campus, and professionals in regional schools to ensure program quality and plan for incremental growth consistent with the college mission and strategic plan. Rank commensurate with academic and/or professional experience.

Requirements:
- Terminal degree (Ed.D. or Ph.D.) in Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Special Education, or Curriculum and Instruction
- Minimum of three (3) years teaching experience in Pre-K – 6 setting
- Special Education preparation and experience
- Demonstrated potential for scholarly research

Preferred Qualifications:
- At least (5) years of teaching experience in Pre-K - 6 settings
- Knowledge of teacher certification
- Knowledge of technology and its role in teaching and learning
- Established research agenda
- Experience teaching in a higher education context
- Experience teaching and supervising students preparing to teach
- Experience in providing professional development for teachers
- Background in women’s/gender studies and strong commitment to women’s education

The Education Program currently offers a Bachelor of Science in Early Childhood and Elementary Education. The on-campus laboratory school, which educates children ages three through grade five, provides a setting to prepare students for initial certification and a resource for teaching and research projects.
