From the ground-breaking college that brought you the first varsity collegiate esports team at a women's college comes this gaming and programming camp just for girls.

Gaming and Programming Camp for Girls

July 16-20
9 a.m.–4 p.m. • Girls only • Grades 6–11
All levels of skill are welcome • $225

With a one-two punch of gaming and programming, our Gaming and Programming (GAP) Camp is designed to help you get (more) comfortable with technology by learning basic programming skills and playing esports as a part of a team.

Half of each day will focus on learning JavaScript by creating a video game playable on any browser, including your smartphone. The remainder of the day will be spent learning and playing the Overwatch esports game. These sessions will include details on characters, maps and strategies and focus on communication and teamwork necessary to be successful in any esports game (and life!) All skill levels welcome; all students will be grouped by age and ability and will receive lots of individual attention. Current esports scholarship players will be on hand to lead teams and to talk about the experience.

Esports is a growing industry and technical skills are always in demand. But most of all, it's fun!
