Director's Note

I grew up in Tacoma, Washington. Just north of us, off I-5, was the Boeing plant. One of my Dad's first jobs in the 1970's was working as an engineer on the Boeing E-3 AWACS radar jets. You may remember them. They had that weird disc on the top of them. Well, maybe you wouldn't if you weren't from that area. I loved looking for, and sometimes spotting them, on the Boeing tarmac. When I didn't see them, I still marveled at the other new jets. I could see them being wheeled out of the cavernous hangars and prepped for test flights. I knew, if all went well, they would soon be filled with travelers and pilots and yes, flight attendants. Ah, the flight attendants. I'm embarrassed to admit some of my first crushes were flight attendants. So nice! So beautiful! And they made me feel important! While the joy of flying may have changed over the years, my memories of those wonderful women and the buzz of the experience of travel remain fond. We hope to take you back to that time of adventure in the skies, and the anticipation of fantastical destinations, such as romantic Paris. I hope you enjoy Boeing, Boeing!
